

DRY ENFORCEMENT IS PRAISED; THEN A STILL BLOWS UP

Haynes Predicts There Will Be No Change in Law to Permit Beer or Wines.

National Prohibition Enforcement Director Roy A. Haynes addressed the Ministerial Conference of New York at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church to-day and said that "never in the history of civilization had a law so drastic as the Volstead act been enforced so quickly and so efficiently."

"There is authority," he said, "for saying that the enforcement is 64 per cent. complete, taking the country as a whole. If I had the voice of all the ministers in the pulpits or the pen of all the editors in the country to tell the truth about Prohibition I believe it would become effective without the use of a single policeman's club or the services of a single detective."

Mr. Haynes said that he heard much of drinking at young people's parties, but believed it was a fact which would pass. He predicted there would be no changes in the Volstead act making possible the use of beer and light wines as beverages.

AND—There was an explosion and a burst of flame from the apartments on the second floor of No. 1238 Fifty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, to-day. Joseph Pizzano, fifteen-year-old son of the landlord, who lives on the ground floor, ran into the hall and met the Marios, man and wife, who occupied the second floor, tumbling down the stairs with clothing bunched in their arms.

"We go to call the firemen," Pizzano said they shouted to him as they ran down the street. The firemen did not come and Pizzano telephoned for them. When the fire was extinguished it was found to have started by the leaking of alcohol from a moonshine still into the gas flame of the kitchen stove. Thirty-five one gallon cans of alcohol were found unburned in a front room and several boxes of raisins.

A policeman was posted at the door to question the Marios when they returned. He had seen nothing of them up to this afternoon.

TWO YEARS FOR STEALING FINE PAID BY HOUGH SELLERS.

Jeff C. Berdeau, formerly a clerk in the office of the United States District Court, was sentenced to two years in Atlanta Penitentiary to-day by Judge Knox. Berdeau, who was arrested in Los Angeles two weeks ago, charged with having embezzled fines collected from violators of the Volstead law last summer to the amount of $4,100, pleaded guilty to stealing one particular fine of $120. He is thirty-two years old and has a wife and child.

DRINKS RUM PUBLICLY AND CAN'T BE ARRESTED

This Colonel Has a Permit From Dry Head Himself.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Lieut. Col. A. J. Gordon Kane, retired, who still suffers from the effects of wounds received in the Civil War, is one of the few persons in the country who has a permit to carry liquor. The document, signed by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes himself, permits him to carry half a pint of whiskey in his pocket, his hand, or anywhere else.

It came from a recent incident in a train between New York and Washington. Col. Kane took out his flask to have a drink and the porter protested. "Col. Kane held the flask aloft and said he didn't care who knew it. Railroad employees appeared until about everyone aboard except the engineer and fireman were on hand, but Col. Kane varied them to put him off and finally was allowed to take his drink in peace. When he reached Washington he got a certificate from the Surgeon-General he needed whiskey as a medicine, and the permit followed.

Promising Oasis Yields Only a 'Lot of Boloney'

But Stranger Was Certain He Saw Delicatessen Customer Buy Hooch.

Proprietors of delicatessen shops were notified to-day by the police that the law compelling them to close after 7 o'clock Sunday nights would be strictly enforced; that the law applied equally to the sale of booze and bologna.

Last night a man stood opposite a delicatessen shop in Eighth Avenue and observed a stranger enter the place and carefully close the door behind him. In the soft light of the shop the man across the street observed the proprietor put his finger on his lips and the other nod his head. Shortly after the stranger was handed a package, the cash register clanged and the stranger, bowing low, made his exit.

The observing man hurried across the street, opened and closed the door and stepped up to the proprietor with his finger on his lips, looked carefully around, while the proprietor divided his glances between the intruder, the cash register and the telephone.

"Give me a pint," said the visitor. "Pint of what?" demanded the mystified proprietor.

"Same as you gave that fellow that just went out."

"Oh," said the shop owner. "Why, he only got half a pound of bologna."

But the thirsty invader wouldn't believe that he hadn't stumbled by chance on a "speak easy," and it took the greatest amount of persuasion on the part of the proprietor to convince him. Finally, his face a picture of melancholy and his head bent low, he shuffled out, muttering something about "a lot of boloney."

FOURTEEN FAMILIES SAVED FROM FIRE IN WASHINGTON ST.

Carried Down Ice-Covered Ladders From Roof In Early Morning Blaze.

Fourteen families were rescued from fire at No. 313 Washington Street early this morning when they were carried down ice-covered ladders from the roof. Many of them suffered terribly, however, from the cold, for they were in night clothes and had to make the descent through a spray of water which froze as soon as it touched the building.

The worst part of the fight was in a narrow alley behind the building. The flames shot up through the house, a five-story tenement, the fire escape and even the aerial ladders. This is why the firemen were obliged to keep the spray on the fleeing families.

There were eighty tenants and at least fifty of them were carried down ladders. Truck Company No. 12, under Lieut. Hauser, threw up the first 75-foot aerial in the alley. Truck Company No. 5 put one up in front. Some of the frightened tenants were threatening to jump and a life net was prepared but not used. Patrolman Harry Lavin, after turning in the alarm, got back to the building in time to help the family of Anna Kenney, four of them, up to the roof and down to the street by way of an adjoining building. Lavin slipped on the icy fire escape and cut his hand. John O'Keefe of No. 82 Chambers Street helped a woman get her two children to the roof, whence they were carried down a ladder. Deputy Fire Chief Martin came on the second alarm. The interior of the building was destroyed and the loss is estimated at $25,000.

FIVE SAVED AT SEA IN STORM-TOSSED BOAT

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The rescue at sea from an open boat off St. John's, N. F., of five men who had been exposed for several days and nights after abandoning the British schooner Eileen Lake was announced by the Belgian steamship Persier in radiograms received here to-day.

The cook of the schooner lost his life, dying the second night the crew spent in their little boat.

The Persier, bound from New York for Antwerp, said the Eileen Lake was sighted on Jan. 19 on St. Pierre Shoals.

The Eileen Lake, a schooner of 161 tons, is listed as being in command of one Noesworthy, and was last reported on a voyage between Lisbon and Oporto.

HOLD-UP AS CROWDS PASS.

Three robbers, with caps pulled down and revolvers raised, cleaned out the cash register and robbed John Mosler of No. 124 Bleeker Street, the proprietor, a waiter and the chef of a restaurant at No. 129 Third Avenue, corner of 14th Street, yesterday.

The hold-up took place at 2:30 o'clock in the morning while hundreds of persons afoot or in taxicabs were passing. Curtained windows in front of the restaurant masked the hold-up men from the street.

COSN. COTTON MILLS ON NEW WAGE SCHEDULE

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Jan. 23.—Many cotton mills in Northeastern Connecticut, including the larger plants in this town, Killingly, Putnam and Thompson and the smaller mills in towns of New London and Windham Counties along the Massachusetts line went on a new wage schedule to-day with an increase in hours from 48 to 55. The wage cut is about 20 per cent, but in mill circles it is stated that as most of the employees are "piece workers" the actual difference in wages is not so much.

There are about 15,000 persons affected by the new wage conditions in this immediate section.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with a dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; remove all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to cleanse and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids so it no longer irritates.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.—Advt.
